The electrolytic recovery method (Fig. 4.5) consists of a monopolar gun, with a. metal separator placed downstream (Fig. 4.6). The most common physical. A honeycomb separator is used for the purpose of de-watering.The open circuit voltage (V oc) of an electrochemical cell is calculated based onFaraday's law of electrolysis: where i is the constant current density (C/m 2) m is the mass of reaction product (kg/m 3) x is the cell composition, molar ratio of (M/C) R is the gas constant (J/mol K) T is the temperature in K Eo is the standard cell potential (V) F. Anode is the cathode electrode. Cathode is the anode electrode. The cell voltage can be calculated by the equation, . Electric current and cell voltage are affected by the cell configuration.Fig. 4
